

We do not need more consolidation of the media. We need less.
Do not allow the large corporations to buy up the small companies that are left.
We need more diversity in our information, not less.